NHHEAF Network and St. Anselm College to Host Virtual College Planning Event April 9
'Destination College' Free to High School Juniors, Their Families

Concord, N.H. – The New Hampshire Higher Education Assistance Foundation (NHHEAF) Network will hold its annual college planning convention, Destination College, on Saturday, April 9. The free, virtual event providing college admissions and financial aid planning information to New Hampshire high school juniors and their parents seeking will be co-hosted by St. Anselm College.

“The nonprofit NHHEAF Network exists to empower students of all ages and backgrounds to discover and achieve their education and career goals,” said Christiana Thornton, President and CEO. “Our Destination College event, now in its 23rd year, is a stellar example of the support we provide to families in the Granite State – and of our strong collaboration and partnerships with schools throughout the state.”

The event, which begins at 9 a.m., allows students to select two workshops to attend – among them, “Exploring Careers & Majors,” “Presenting Your Best Self in the College Process,” and “Tips for Reducing College Costs.” At noon, a virtual college fair will foster direct connections with representatives from an array of more than 50 colleges and universities, among them Boston College, the University of New Hampshire, Tufts University, the University of Connecticut, Salve Regina University, the United States Coast Guard Academy, and Maine College of Art & Design.

While the event is free, registration is required. For complete workshop descriptions and to register, please visit <https://www.nhheaf.org/destination-college.asp>.
